Re: Lisa Shore

Dear Detective-Sergeant Davis,

The Crown has requested information from me regarding the nature of the legal relationship between myself and my husband and Michelle Fuerst.

We retained Michelle in early March 2000, shortly after the conclusion of the Coroner's inquest, to provide a legal opinion on the potential criminal charges that might arise as a result of the anticipated police investigation. We also asked her if she could provide us with the name of a document examiner.

The opinion letter stated that the following charges were possible:

- Criminal Negligence Causing Death;
- Obstruct Justice;
- Manslaughter;
- Failure to Provide the Necessaries of Life;
- Perjury

The information provided was very general in nature and made no comment on the probability or likelihood of any of the above charges actually being laid.

The letter was not given to anyone (aside from our civil lawyer, Frank Gomberg). It was never discussed with anyone, and no actions were taken as a result of anything contained therein.

No other legal services were provided by her to us.

Yours truly,

Sharon Shore
